

Important Update: July 2024 Commission Payment Adjustment

We are providing you with an important update regarding your commission payments for July 2024.

In our preparation to launch our new commission application, we are taking every step to ensure accuracy and provide you with the best experience.

As we complete our final testing, we want to make sure your commission payment for this month is completed on time. Therefore, yesterday, August 12, we issued a commission payment to your agency that matches the amount you received in July for June premiums. We anticipate testing of our new commission application will be completed in the next two weeks and will issue an adjustment payment, if any, at that time.

Once the July commissions are validated, and the adjustment payment is issued, you will be able to find your July 2024 commission statement in the new Broker Portal.
